The wisdom of Sofala story

Maputo, Capital of Mozambique as the venue of the 40th Anniversary of IDB Group's Annual Meeting was an excellent choice.

In our first visit, we were indeed enchanted with Maputo, with its development and natural beauties. Mozambique has one of the highest growth rates in Africa.

An important event of the Annual Meeting, as it has always been, was the address of Dr. Ahmed Mohammad Ali, the President of IDB.

We were moved by H.E. the President's address, an excerpt of which is provided in the following pages.

We learned that while Sherif Al-Idrisi visited Mozambique in the 12th Century, while Ibn-i Batuta arrived in the 14th. City of Kulwa capital of Sofala (present day Mozambique, Tanzania and Malawi) mentioned in their works, was one of the best urbanized cities in the world at the time with its people one the most righteous. It naturally followed that their ruler, Abu Al-Muzafar Hasan, was praised for his humility towards the poor and for his generosity reaching far away lands.

It was a pity that righteous ruling of these lands by Muslims was not sustainable. The reasons behind this retreat may well guide us in our present day actions. The text of Dr. Muhammed Ali's address is worth reading.

ADFIMI had a very lively CEO Seminar on "SME Banking in Sub-Saharan Africa" jointly with IDB and the Central Bank of Mozambique.". The event was inaugurated by H.E. Omar Mitha, Vice Minister of Industry and Trade, Mozambique and over 70 persons had attended the seminar. The status of SMEs in Subsaharan Africa was examined and the efforts made to improve SMEs in the region by ICD was eloquently expressed by its able CEO, Mr. Khaled Al-Aboodi.

Let's move forward for an improved future for all, including Sub-Saharan Africa.

40TH ANNUAL MEETING OF THE IDB GROUP

MAPUTO, MOZAMBIQUE, 07-14 JUNE 2015

Excerpts from the address of H.E. Ahmed Muhammed Ali, The President of IDB

Your Excellency President Filipe Nyusi, President of the Republic of Mozambique;

Your Excellency Chairman of the Board of Governors;

Your Excellencies Governors and Alternate Governors;

Distinguished Delegations and Members of Diplomatic Corps;

Ladies and Gentlemen

Assalamualaikum warahmatullahi wabarakatub.

I would like to begin by expressing profound gratitude to H.E. President Filipe Nyusi for gracing the opening of this blessed conference. Through him I thank the people and Government of the Republic of Mozambique for the generous hosting of the conference and for the warm reception and kind hospitality we have all received.

Your presence at this meeting is a demonstration of your support for joint action among 56 developing countries under the family of the Islamic Development Bank Group. We recall your country's sterling record of struggle for freedom, independence and dignity. It is a record that has enlarged Africa's role in building the future of our global civilization and in which the centrality of the Republic of Mozambique has emerged in the contemporary history of Africa.

The history of Mozambique, in particular, and of Africa, in general, brings up memories for reflection and from which lessons must be drawn. Sherif Al-Idrisi visited this land in the 12th Century. In his book: "Nazbat al Mushtaq fi Ikbтира Al- Aafaaq", Al-Idrisi gave a detailed description of the Sofala regions. Then the traveler Ibn Batuta arrived here in the 14th Century and settled in Kulwa, which in those days was the capital of a region that extended to Mozambique, Tanzania and Malawi. This traveler who toured most parts of the world found that Kulwa "was one of the best and urbanized cities and its people were mostly religious and righteous." He talked about its king Abu Al-Muzafar Hasan and praised his humility towards the poor, his numerous gifts and generosity that reached many places in our Islamic world.

From Kulwa, Ibn Batuta sought out news about Sofala in Mozambique because of its unique importance. The same Sofala is the place visited by the Portuguese historian Thome Lopes, the companion of the explorer Vasco da Gama, in the early part of the 16th Century. He endorsed the land as being one of abundance (Ophir) so mentioned in the holy book. For this advantage, the English poet, Milton, praised it in his epic "Paradise Lost."

Colonization has caused a deterioration of great cities that used to be very prosperous here in Sofala and Kulwa. They have caused the severance of a tie of contact between this country and an Ummah in which you had a sturdy position. However, your cultural, educational and moral civilization has refused to become extinct.

There can be no question that anyone who ponders history would look forward to filling the gap created by colonialism and re-building the bridges with this dear part of our family. I would therefore like to seize this opportunity to appeal to the private sector in the member countries of the IDB, chambers of commerce and industry, airlines and energy companies to seize the opportunity of coming years of a promising Mozambican economy, by the Grace of God, and intensify their contact with this country.

Your country's civilization and the wonderful experience of your ancestors inspire experts in trade, economy and society.

H.E. Filipe Nyusi, President of the Republic of Mozambique

They teach our states and institutions lessons that can be showcased in the international dialogue preceding the adoption of development goals in New York next autumn. Of those lessons I want to particularly mention building of the economy on three pillars:

- a) The pillar of free trade, decentralization of economic activities and integration among regions;
- b) The pillar of the state's inclusion of everyone in the fruit of development by being just and fair and by spending on the needy.
- c) The pillar of partnerships in which partners respect one another, where neighbours and brothers share profits in a positive way and, where the success derived trickle down to the larger society.

It is on the guidance provided by these pillars that the themes on which the Bank focuses its future plans are based.

Over the past 40 years, the IDB Group has succeeded in advancing development efforts in member countries, contributing more than $112 billion, including $11 billion in the past year alone – a sign of growth for which we thank Allah. Yet the Bank's strategy introduces new elements that bestow on it the position it is worthy of, and enable it to respond more effectively to the socio-economic dynamics, the increasing needs of the member countries, and the foreseeable changes globally over the coming 10 years.

The Board of Executive Directors has submitted to your meeting a report on the work progress concerning the breakdown structure of the 10-year Strategy of the IDB Group. Several significant initiatives emerged which the Bank will focus on, God Willing.

The first initiative concerns strengthening the Bank's institutional performance, rationalizing the Group's organizational and operational efficiency, developing the human capital, managing talents and skills, encouraging innovation, and creating an environment conducive to improving the work's quality. My focus here is on reforming the Bank from the inside in order to deal with the challenges and transformations;

H.E. Dr. Ahmed Mobammad Ali, President of the IDB Group

I am determined to go through with this and do what it takes in terms of developing systems, reforming policies, and developing and training the leaderships, so that the member countries will have confidence in their perspective on the strategic management of development.

The second initiative is about improving the quality of the operations, by creating a performance culture that ensures that funded projects produce tangible benefits on the ground. These results will be assessed in a unified manner based on qualitative and collective performance indicators that guarantee efficient achievement of the desired development goals. This would include allocating a percentage of the annual funds to joint ventures (between two countries or more), as well as a percentage of the funds to projects that have remarkably succeeded in combating poverty, and giving significant technical assistance to support member countries' efforts to build development models based on economic rationalization, transparency, and accountability.

The third initiative revolves around consolidating financial sustainability, developing the Sukuk and the various Islamic finance mechanisms, so that they contribute in a better way to the development process, and to ensuring the rapid growth of operations with the help of external resources and joint funding, and new financing methods such as trust funds and concessional financing.

The fourth initiative is dedicated to mobilizing successful experiences in fighting poverty from all over the world, expanding our sources of knowledge and innovation to introduce solutions to insurmountable development challenges, and meet the needs of the impoverished and those most affected by disasters and conflicts.

Your Excellency, these are the lofty ambitions the Bank's management seeks to realize, God Willing.

I ask Allah the Almighty to bless our efforts to bring a better future to the peoples of our Ummah and for all humanity.

Wassalamualaikum warahmatullahi wabarakatuh.
